Inclusion

Gardens for Wildlife aims to connect people and wildlife through gardening. It is inclusive and beneficial for people of all ages, abilities, and backgrounds.

Please let us know if there are any other considerations that you need, in order for you to be able to comfortably participate.

How can we ensure you are treated with respect, understanding and inclusiveness?

Language

Over 150 different languages are spoken by Hume City's diverse multicultural communities.

Currently, only a small number of volunteer Garden Guides are available to do the garden visits, who mainly speak English. A few Garden Guides can fluently speak several languages. We hope to attract and train more volunteers who speak a wide variety of languages.

Other than English, please let us know which language you would require for a garden visit to occur. If required, please ask a family member or friend to act as an interpreter.

Introduction

Background

This application will take 15-20 minutes to complete.

Please answer all the compulsory questions with a red asterisk, after which the review and submit buttons will become active.

You are applying to have a one hour garden visit with volunteer Garden Guides, who will come to your place and have a chat with you about wildlife-friendly gardening.

What to expect next

A Garden Guide will contact you to arrange a mutually convenient date and time.

Please be patient as it may take several weeks to a few months to arrange a visit with you. We keep the round open until we have 25 to 30 interested people apply.

Garden Guides are community members who enjoy encouraging other people to get involved with habitat gardening, each with their own particular skills, interests and knowledge. Please understand if they do not have all the answers during your visit. An exchange of ideas is always welcomed.

You will receive a small gift to show you are part of G4W. People who have a garden visit will then become eligible to receive some free indigenous seedlings (normally available at June pick-up event).

After the garden visit

The Garden Guides will prepare a garden visit report, including relevant information and follow-up resources. We aim to send you a detailed report 4-6 weeks after the visit.

Download the Gardens for Wildlife booklet from www.hume.vic.gov.au/gardensforwildlife

Council will ask for some feedback several months after the garden visit, via a link back to a SmartyGrants survey form - please remember your login email and password. Let us know about the wildlife you seen and what you have experienced through the Gardens for Wildlife program.

You will also receive an invitation (in autumn) to come to an indigenous seedling pick-up event, usually scheduled on a Sunday morning in June in Bulla.

We hope that you are inspired to include many wildlife-friendly gardening ingredients at your place.

Other Council issues

Contact Hume City Council if there are any other issues you need assistance to resolve.
